TRAINING NEARS END

Michigan's "Iron Fist" Division Moves Homeward On Saturday

CAMP GRAYLING—After a full week of colorful activities, Michigan National Guardsmen near the end of training this week prior to heading for home stations Saturday.

Some 1,000 visitors witnessed the annual 46th Infantry Division Review last Saturday. The Guardsmen paraded before Gov. George Romney, Guard Commander-in-Chief Maj. Cecil L. Simmons, Division Commander, and a host of other dignitaries.

Sunday, Governor Romney spoke at the Division Memorial Ceremony honoring past Guardsmen. He cited his "pride and respect" for the Michigan National Guard, praised "those patriots who have preceded us" and called on Guardsmen to "prepare to advance to secure liberty for all mankind when the order comes."

Last week 4,000 troops lived in the field while undergoing combined infantry training with two tank battalions, engineer units, artillery and aviation support. The combined maneuvers won praise from Brig. Gen. Charles E. Tank, Deputy Commander of the Continental Army Command, which establishes training requirements for National Guard forces. Gen. Tank viewed training during a three-day visit.

This year's encampment also has been witnessed by other VIP's, including state press, radio and television people during News Day-64 last Thursday and civic leaders of Lansing and Greenville during Lansing and Greenville days.

In addition to the Division Review and the Division Memorial Ceremony, there is another annual highlight for the "citizen-soldiers"—gays.

While the first week of training was spent in the field by most units, the second week saw Guardsmen living in the "luxury" of a huge tent city. They attended classes and also went to the woods on field problems.

Early camp rains played a major role in greatly reducing the usual fire hazard for most of the encampment.

The 2,500 tents in the main camp will not have to be torn down this year as the Guardsmen depart. They will be left for the Ohio National Guard which takes over after the Michigan men have left Saturday.

Fred Bears To Return From African Hunt

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bear were expected back in Grayling this week following a fabulous hunt for Fred in Africa and an extended European trip for Mrs. Bear.

The Bears left Grayling on May 9 for Africa, flying from New York. After two weeks in Africa, Mrs. Bear left the party and went to Europe by the way of Egypt and the Holy Land.

Fred had a very successful hunt bagging elephant, 54 inch kudu, nyala, waterbuck, two impala and two warthogs. The hunt came to an abrupt end, however, when in a jeep going through the tall grass about ten miles an hour, the vehicle nosedived into a wash about five feet deep and six feet wide with vertical sides.

As Fred relates it, "The stop was abrupt to say the least. I was in front with the driver in the open jeep. Halmi (Life photographer) and two natives were in back. Halmi landed head first in the ditch. Why his neck was not broken I will never know. I was thrown into the dash and cushioned Babunda's flight forward, who continued to roll like a rubber ball into the grass beyond. When the dust cleared I was half in and half out. A cracked rib and a wrenched back. All the rest okay except for cuts and bruises. Equipment scattered all about. Peter, our tracker, carried my movie camera with him all the way. No damage except stock broken off. Halmi's big lens broken."

Fred joined Mrs. Bear at Copenhagen, Denmark and spent a short time before the couple returned to Grayling.

New Library

The Library Board of Crawford County is pleased to announce that construction will begin in August for the new library building on the lot between the AuSable River and the American Legion on Old 27. All preliminary work has been completed and the board has authorized the architect James Spence to let bids for the new building.

Friends of the Library who donated the $30,000.00 building fund campaign in 1963 will once again accept all donations to ward this fund. A balance of approximately $3,750.00 was raised last year. They wish to remind those who made pledges to fulfill them at this time. Please send all contributions (which are tax deductible) to Eric Post, Grayling, Michigan.

Friends of the Library will meet in the Activity Room at Grayling high school at 7:00 p. m. Tuesday, July 28th.

County Dems Plan August 3rd Meeting

The next regular meeting of the Crawford County Democratic committee and county Dems will be August 3rd at the Court House in Grayling. This will be an important meeting as ways must be discussed to raise money for local activities in the party. If you haven't bought your '64 membership you please do so now.

The county fall convention will be on Saturday, September 12th, as it is all over the 89 counties in Michigan. The State Convention will be in Lansing on September 18 and 19. The September 12 convention will select delegates to the 18th and 19th State Conventions.

Plans will also be completed to entertain all candidates running for election this fall in the Democratic party at a party here in Grayling with Neil Staebler as honored guest.

We have a precinct delegate and township delegate from every one but one township and 2 from city on the ballot this year. This is a new law that the precinct and township delegates must run on the ballot.

August 3rd is the last day to register for the Primary election which will be held on September 1. October 5 is the last day to register for the General Election on November 3. Every American who has reached his or her 21st birthday should register and consider it a great privilege to vote. The smart person is the one who studies issues, listens to candidates, makes an effort to meet them and then votes. Many elections are won or lost by a vote or two per precinct. See how important your one vote is!

Crawford County is now in the 36th Senatorial district (state senate) and the 103rd House representative district (State). We are still in the 10th Congressional district in Washington.

Register and vote. Register to day, don't delay.

To Phase Out Production At Grayling Fish Hatchery

The Department of Conservation will phase out production of fish at four state hatcheries by the end of next year, Director Ralph A. MacMullan announced today.

Two of the stations — at Paris and Grayling — will be converted to multiple-use field offices with expanded work forces. The others, at Watersmeet and Benton Harbor, will be shut down.

In all cases employees now assigned to hatchery work will be given other duties. In all but one instance the affected workers will remain in the communities where they now live.

MacMullan said the curtailment of hatchery operations reflects recommendations made in the "new look" fisheries management program adopted by the Conservation Commission last month. The Commission ordered the program put into effect as rapidly as possible.

Popularly known as the McFadden Plan, the program calls for curtailment of the present practice of stocking legal-sized trout in streams and a shift in emphasis to planting sub-legal trout in lakes.

Savings from the change, expected to amount to $250,000 a year eventually, will be put into other phases of fish management, including construction of artificial lakes in water-short areas of the state and purchase of new access sites.

The four stations to be phased out initially were recommended by the Department's Fish Section and its field organization. In general, they are stations with low capacity or some other limitation which makes them less economical to operate.

When production ends at all four, the Department still will have five major hatcheries plus a number of sub-stations for rearing and distribution of trout.

"With the modern transportation methods we now have, these facilities will be entirely adequate to meet the needs of our (Continued on Page 8)

Four male minors held at Camp LeVieville walked away from the camp last week. Three of the four were recaptured by Sheriff Arthur Clough and City Police officers in a very short time.

On Wednesday night of last week, three left the camp took a car belonging to Larry McNamara. They were stopped on I-75 business loop near the Country Club and two were captured by Sheriff Clough and Police Officer Larry Yoder. The third boy escaped. Later a pickup truck belonging to John Stephan was found to have been stolen. It is assumed that the third escapee took it.

On Saturday night at 10:20 p. m. another minor left the camp. He was captured at 1 a. m. Sunday morning at the corner of the County Road and Clyde street by City Police Officer Joe White and Auxiliary Officer Floyd Millikin.

City Police gave a summons to Daniel Joseph Coffman, 17, of Sturgis on July 11 for failure to stop in the assured clear distance ahead, causing an accident. Roger Dee Galloway of Grayling, 20, received a summons on July 15 for speeding. Delta Play McGills, 32, of Ottawa Lake, received a summons for failing to stop for a stop sign, causing an accident, on July 18. James Rolfe received a summons on several counts, for having no driver's license, for failure to have his vehicle under control and causing an accident, and for leaving the scene of an accident, and failure to comply with a lawfully order given by a police officer, all on July 18. All have or will appear before Justice Williamson.

Maj. Campbell lived in Inkster. He was employed by the International Harvester Co. and had been a member of the National Guard since 1935.

A full military funeral will be accorded Maj. Campbell in Dearborn. He is survived by his wife and two children.

Guard Advisor Killed In Crash

Three others were injured, one seriously.

Taken to Grayling Mercy Hospital in critical condition was Richard G. Becker, 37, of Rockford, also with the Michigan National Guard. Hurt less seriously were James G. Petersen, 34, of Grayling and Murray Schultz, 25, of Albion.

State police, who investigated, said Black was traveling east and the other car, driven by Petersen, was going west. Officers said the Black vehicle was struck in the left side.

The mishap took place about four miles west of Grayling near the intersection of the Eagle Point Road with M-72.

Gov. Romney Begins Vote Hunt For Fall Primary At Grayling

Governor George Romney of Michigan in Grayling for the traditional Governor's Day at Camp Grayling gave a short speech from the Crawford County Court House steps Saturday evening and then shook hands with many of those attending. Crawford County Republican Chairman Minnie Hartley is visible at the center rear of the photo.

Kicking off his campaign for votes for the Primary Election set for September 1st, Michigan's Governor George Romney gave his first talk following the Republican Convention from the steps of the Crawford County Court House last Saturday evening.

Romney accompanied by his wife, Lenore, talked to an estimated crowd of 200 and told them of the Michigan delegation's work at the National Convention.

Romney, who appeared at nearby Camp Grayling earlier in the day as commander-in-chief of the Michigan National Guard, told his audience that he used the Guardsmen effectively in ending the Hillsdale strike incident. He gained the favor of the crowd when he said he was "working for the establishment of law and order."

Romney did not mention his stand on Republican presidential nominee Barry Goldwater, although two signs appeared in the crowd boasting the Arizona senator.

However, he later talked with one of the men carrying the signs and told him that he planned to withhold his support of Goldwater until he "saw how the campaign is running." The Goldwater supporter was Don Zerlin, Flint, a member of the Genesee County (Continued on Page 8)

The nearly 9,000 men of Ohio's 37th Infantry Division pour into Camp Grayling Saturday with most heading directly into widespread areas of the sprawling camp for a first week of intensive training in the field.

This year's training-the Division's fifth at Camp Grayling-will be two weeks earlier than last when Ohio's was the last full division to train at Grayling.

During the first week, every weapon, at the disposal of the Division, with the exception of the Honest John Rocket, will be fired using live ammunition.

Many of the units will switch training sites after the first week but most will remain bivouacked in the same area the entire two weeks. Division support and headquarters units, which will remain in the main camp area the first week, will join the other units in "roughing it" the last week.

The first week's training will come to a close Saturday, Aug. 1, with the annual Governor's Review at which Gov. James A. Rhodes is expected to review his troops a second straight year. The governor is commander in chief of the National Guard Division.

The huge review-a highlight of the camp period-will be open to all Grayling area residents, who are most welcome.

After the review, a majority of the Division's troops and about 200 Army Reservists, expected to be attached for training, will get off for a well-deserved weekend of rest and recreation.

This year's training camp will be the last for Maj. Gen. Loren G. Windom, the Division Commander, who is slated to retire in 1965.

Under Gen. Windom's command the Division has consistently been rated among the top Guard and Reserve Divisions in the nation. This year is no exception.

Gen. Windom said, "This annual field training climaxes a year of

Three Guardsmen Hurt As Dud Shell Explodes

Three Michigan Army National Guardsmen were injured Friday, one seriously, when a dud recoilless rifle shell exploded while the men were fighting a brush fire.

Most seriously injured was Pfc. Daniel M. Hoffman, 23, of Alma who is still listed as "serious" but was at first on the "critical" list. He suffered severe abdominal wound. Less seriously injured was Staff Sgt. Richard Mizer, 28, of Alma. Both men are still patients at Grayling Mercy Hospital. Also hospitalized for treatment, but since released, was Pvt. Albert Radspeiler, 23, of Grandville. All three men were members of the First Battalion, 126th Infantry undergoing summer training here.

Guard spokesmen said the accident occurred in the impact area of a 105 millimeter recoilless rifle range about 20 miles north of Grayling.

Spokesmen said the injured men were among 15 soldiers fighting a small brush fire that had broken out on the range. It was not immediately determined if the shell was set off by the men beating out the fire or if it was detonated by the fire.

Summer Heat Is A Factor In Highway Mishaps, Experts Say

BLAME HEAT

Summer weather is rarely given direct blame for highway mishaps, but most experts agree it is a factor.

Usually, however, this factor is teamed with the increased motor traffic, shorter tempers, and others to cause the disasters which occur on the roads.

Heat waves which cause distorted visual patterns for otherwise lured motorists often are listed among weather conditions contributing to accidents.

Even brief rest periods on a summer outing can mean a big difference between highway safety and roadside tragedy.

Michigan's roads offer one of the most convenient means of getting these rest periods. The rest areas scattered throughout the state also offer a close look at some of the beautiful scenic spots at roadside.

Rest areas provide rest room facilities, picnic tables, parking areas for cars and trucks, telephones in some cases, a state map, and drinking water.

Just over 30 rest areas are state maintained on main routes. Many others are placed by community and county officials.

The steadily increasing rate of highway accidents and deaths points up the need for use of these roadside facilities. Deputy State Highway Commissioner Frederick E. Tripp describes rest periods as "an effective means of reducing driving fatigue, an important feature of any highway safety program."

OLD FLAGS RESTORED

Visitors to Michigan's Capitol during the next two years will find an empty display case on the main floor rotunda. The void represents progress in preserving a segment of historical mementoes.

Some 211 historic battle flags carried by Michigan regiments during the Civil War, Spanish-American War and the two World Wars are displayed in the rotunda cases.

Last fall the first batch of flags, many of them barely holding together in shreds, was shipped to West Point for restoration.

Deterioration of the flags continued while they are on display because of the strain placed on the cloth by its own weight, notes Floyd Haight, chairman of the state Civil War Centennial Observation Commission.

In time the flags would eventually have been destroyed by the process. At West Point, however, each flag will be sandwiched between two layers of nylon netting dyed to match the flag colors.

By hand-stitching the three layers together, the nylon net takes the strain off the flag when it is hanging. The nylon will not deteriorate with age, Haight said. Three years will be required to complete the restoration because of the amount of hand work involved.

DIPLOMA MILL FRAUDS

Mail-order purchasing is at an all-time high in the country and is, on the whole, a convenient means of acquiring quality goods and services without leaving the house.

One notable exception, however, is a segment of the mail order business especially active during the summer months, according to the consumer protection division of the state attorney general's office. This exception is labeled by the division as the diploma mill business, a mail order operation aimed at offering various types of schooling in special fields.

Quick action is taken when educational frauds are brought to the attention of local or state officials.

An example of the action taken recently involved a mail order firm offering help to persons seeking civil service jobs. The attorney general's investigations showed the outfit employed no teachers to fulfill the promise of a 24-session course with placement counseling.

Notes signed by prospective students were quickly sold to a finance company, which was not responsible for the original seller's promises, as the firm ignored complaints of students who received mimeographed sheets labelled lessons.

The firm was put out of business in Michigan, but past experience has taught the consumer protection division that such outfits often switch to another operation, such as air hostess training, meat-cutting schools or some other field when put out of operation in one area.

With schools and colleges overcrowded, the demands for education and specialized training are great and the opportunities for fraudulent diploma mills are ripe. There is a quick, easy way to self-protection against these frauds, consumer protection division representatives emphasize.

Before signing or paying anything for mail order learning, check if the outfit is listed with the State Superintendent to Public Instruction as an accredited institution.

LOCAL VETS STUDY UNDER KOREAN GI BILL

(Special to the Avalanche)

New York — Fewer than half of the men in Crawford County who saw service in the Korean War, troops, the Korean conflict — have taken advantage to date of the educational benefits available to them under the Korean GI Bill.

On the basis of figures gathered nationally, only about two out of every five of the vets have completed or are now enrolled in some form of educational training.

To be eligible for it, a veteran must have been in the armed forces but not necessarily abroad, at some time between June 27, 1950, and January 31, 1955. He must also have served 90 days unless discharged for a disability incurred while in service.

Although fighting had virtually ceased by the end of 1952, the conflict continued to January 31, 1955, Congress has ruled.

Statistics on veterans in the United States, and the education they have acquired, have been compiled by the Veterans Administration and by the N. Y. State Division of Veterans' Affairs. Approximately 65-Korean-veterans in Crawford County have enrolled for training since the GI Bill went into effect, it is estimated, based on the national figures.

They represent about 41 per cent of the 155 Korean vets counted by the Census Bureau in its 1960 tabulation.

Of these, some 35 went to college, a number of them continuing on through graduate school to become engineers, doctors, dentists, teachers and the like.

Others chose training in trade, industry and in the various crafts. They went to institutions below college level or took correspondence courses or went in on-the-farm training.

Time is running out on the educational program. There are only eight months left. Veterans who are now taking courses may have to double up in their classes, it is pointed out, to get finished before the deadline. Congress has set January 31, 1965, as the cut-off date for the Korean program.

Crawford County's veteran population, according to the latest official figures, consists of 133 who were in World War I, 410 in World War II and 155 in the Korean War.

EASY DOES IT

Shopping for the things you need is just like fishing. You can put as much or as little effort in the project as pleases you.

Fishing is generally considered fun and relaxation, shopping a chore. It doesn't have to be this way. If you want to make light work of shopping, shop close to home. Wherever you live in the community, you are not very far away from a reliable, established local merchant who is anxious to serve and to please, who knows that quality, value and service today mean more business for tomorrow.

Let your newspaper make your shopping easier. Read the ads as well as the local news. Most folks who make this a regular habit discover that the items they need are at their fingertips — right down the street, or just a phone call away.

How To Kill Growth...

U. S. News & World Report recently listed the profits of a large number of industrial corporations for the first quarter of 1964 and the equivalent period last year. In all but a few cases they have increased.

But there is more to this than meets the passing eye. It is true that profits are on the rise and are higher than ever if number of dollars is used as the measure. But the fact is that profits as compared with the total economy—wages, total output, salaries, total personal income, national income—are lagging.

In 1929 profits amounted to 9.5 per cent of the national income—the figure now is around 6 per cent. And last year, the profits retained to pay for improvements and other business needs came to only 2 per cent of national income—a dangerously low level. For improvements are the means by which this country maintains its position in an intensely competitive world—to say nothing of their salutary influence on employment and living standards.

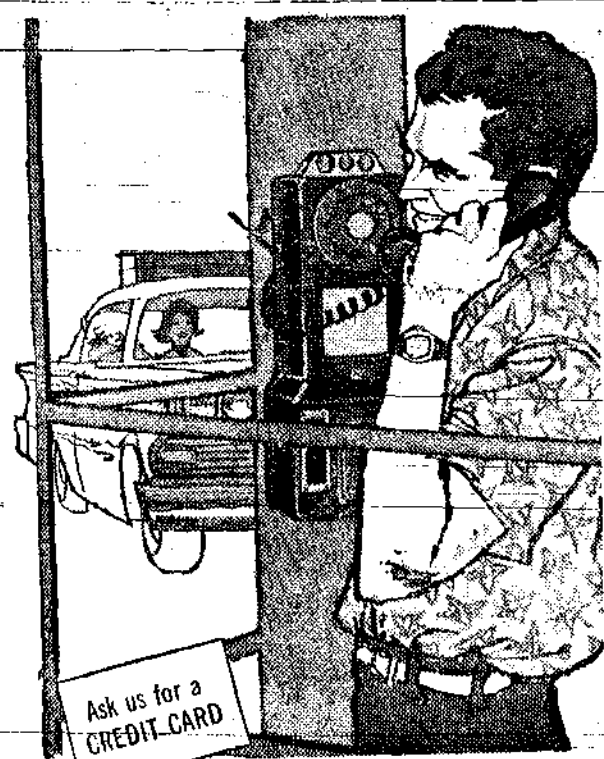

So—the mere dollar figures can be highly misleading. The profit situation, viewed purely from the point of view of the national welfare, is not as healthy as many believe. The head of one company, quoted by U. S. News, puts the problem this way: "Limit profit, and you limit growth. Kill it, and you kill growth."

Time To Protect Consumers Against Government...

A great deal has been heard about "consumer protection" of late. That vague and seemingly innocuous phrase covers a lot of territory from so-called "truth in labeling" bills, to elaborate government bureaus and study groups which, apparently, operate on the principle that the housewife is something of an economic idiot who simply can't take care of herself when she goes shopping.

The head of one of this country's major merchandising organizations recently had something interesting to say about this. In his view, consumers need protection against an "overprotective government." The federal government, he pointed out, now has 296 separate programs for protecting consumers. So, "The type of protection the consumer most needs is protection from the regimentation and the high costs of government itself."

It is pretty evident that if the extreme zealots of consumer protection have their way, an ever-growing bureaucracy will tell manufacturers what they can produce, retailers what they can sell, and consumers what they can buy. It would seem that we have all the laws we need to give the consumer legitimate and reasonable protection—those 296 federal programs, remember, are piled on top of all manner of local laws and ordinances designed to keep the buyer from being misled or cheated. If there is a consumer protection problem, it is minor compared to the problem of big government with its murderous costs, and its depressing effects on the liberties of the people.

Saturday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, Miss Jean M. Peterson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Peterson, exchanged her marriage vows with Don K. Gothro, son of Mrs. Herbert Gothro, at the home of the bride's parents, The Rev. H. W. Kuhlman read the service before an improvised altar banked with cedar boughs, on either side of which were floor candelabra holding white lighted tapers, and baskets of white gladioli and baby's breath. Baskets of white hydrangea and other white flowers were used throughout the rooms. About sixty relatives and friends witnessed the ceremony. To the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March played by her sister, Miss Virginia, the bride approached the altar on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage. Wage Earners In Crawford County Better Off

(Special to the Avalanche)

New York — The average Crawford County worker has been better off in his economic position in recent years.

Even though his cost of living has been going up, his income has been moving upward at a faster rate.

Without putting in any more effort than he did ten years ago, in terms of hours of labor, he finds he can live more luxuriously than he did then.

The increase in his income has more than made up for the increase in his living costs.

The average working man in Crawford County now earns enough in only 25 minutes on the job, for example, to buy a pound of coffee or a pound of bacon. Ten years ago they would have involved considerably more working time.

By putting in 40 minutes of labor he is able to buy a pound of round steak. He can get an automobile tire (6.70 x 15) with the proceeds of some 14 hours of work.

The changes that have taken place throughout the United States and the comparison of present-day worktimes with those of 1953 are reported by the National Industrial Conference Board and by the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Some idea of the extent of this change is brought out in the figures, which show the amount of time that the average American worker must put in to buy various consumer items.

A dozen eggs, grade A, requires 13 minutes of work today, compared with 26 minutes ten years ago.

A pair of nylon stockings take 23 minutes, as against 37 minutes previously.

A medium-price man's wool suit, formerly a 27 1/2 hour item, can now be bought with just 20 hours of work.

The reports reveal, also, the wide gap that still exists between the buying power of the American worker and that of his counterparts in other countries.

The loaf of bread that a factory worker in this country is able to buy after only five minutes on the job requires 11 minutes in Paris or West Berlin, 19 minutes in Tokyo, 24 minutes in Madrid and 36 minutes in Moscow.

In the last decade, it is shown, the cost of living has advanced about 14 percent in the United States. This rise has been more than offset in Crawford County by the increase in per capita income, which amounted to 40 per cent in the period.

Attend The Church Of Your Choice

Faith's Challenge

There is something very special about a boy and his dog. The dog so obviously wants nothing more than to devote his life to his small master. He takes his boy on faith... and, inevitably, the boy lives up to it.

For faith creates a challenge. If someone believes something good of you, you find yourself eager to measure up to that standard.

God looks for the best in all of us. Regardless of what may have happened yesterday we are, today, welcome in His Church. He has faith in us. Should we have less than faith in Him?

THE CHURCH FOR ALL...

ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake, (2) For his children's sake, (3) For the sake of his community and nation, (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

NEW EYES FOR THE NEEDY PROGRAM

Dr. Georgia V. Mills, Director, Health Department No. 1 has just received its quota cards for use during the next year from New Eyes for the Needy.

The Distribution Chairman, Mrs. Sidman T. Barber, sent an appeal for discarded glasses. She asked the help of local organizations in collecting old eyeglasses and precious metal scrap (costume jewelry, bits of old gold and silver, etc.) to be turned into the local Health Department, who in turn will send it on to New Eyes for the Needy, Inc. This, their only source of income, received from generous, thoughtful people all over the United States, maintains their program.

If you have any old eyeglasses or jewelry, please contact Mrs. Johanna Gorman, Public Health Nurse in your community. Thank you.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

13 July 1964

To the Editor:

May I respond to the editorial invitation by R.W.S. in July 9 Avalanche, to "See what we think of it," namely, the resolution offered by Max K. Kelsey before a 10th district G.O.P. meeting, and warmly approved of by R.W.S. If Avalanche readers will refer back to the July 9 issue, and the editorial in question, they will see that the action called for in the Resolution as offered, is clearly illegal, and possibly subversive, in that it calls for secession from, and a declaration of war against, our duly constituted government, by the people of the area as described by Mr. Kelsey. I also think that the Republicans, particularly those of the right, should follow the council they give the Negro and other "extremists", that they seek redress in the courts, and not by violence against our Government.

So They Say

...and he was willing to take any suggestion she offered, such good judgment had she shown by coming to Grayling Radio & TV.

NEW STATUTE BIG AID TO CONSUMER

More consumer protection than ever before has been written into the weights and measures act of 1964 which becomes effective on August 28. It will replace a 1913 statute as well as some supplemental acts.

Enforcement of the new act will be the responsibility of the Michigan Department of Agriculture's Food and Standards Division, headed by J. L. Littlefield. Several features give the buyer an advantage he never had before.

In the past it was required to state the quantity contained in a package of food, but there was no such requirement on such non-food items as paint, anti-freeze, varnish, oil, and similar packaged non-food items. However, where such declaration was made, it had to be accurate.

Under the new law quantity must be declared on all packaged items sold by weight, measure, or numerical count. There also is a clearer definition of weight. When weight is declared in connection with any commodity, it means NET weight. This is exclusive of the weight of the container or any wrapping material.

This was always in Michigan law, but it was misunderstood. Some persons declared on the container: "Net weight -- pounds when packed." This is now illegal. The new law will even apply to cords of fireplace wood or pulpwood by requiring that when the wood is properly stacked, it must contain at least 128 cubic feet regardless of the three dimensions involved.

Also illegal under the new act

PONY TALES

By JANET W. OLSON

If your pony has a nice green pasture to feed in all day he is lucky indeed, but you should know that often during the hot summer months grass is likely to lose a good part of its nutritional value. Watch your pasture and if it seems to dry up, turn brown or yellow you must plan to give a supplementary feeding of a good hay. Since our ponies must be "hand fed" because of lack of pasture, we feed a flake of hay, per pony, both morning and evening and a one pound coffee can of grain mixture with the evening feeding. It is better to feed a little more with the evening feeding as your pony has a longer wait for breakfast than he has between breakfast and dinner. We take our ponies out in a field or even let them trim the lawn once a day and feel that they get all the grass they need in this way. It is best not to feed your pony clippings from the lawn mower as these clippings sour very quickly and may give your pony colic. I don't approve of staking a pony out to eat grass unless you stay right there and watch him every moment as it only takes a second for him to become tangled and besides the panic he might feel he could hurt himself very badly. When you feed hay you must remember that hay is dried grass, hence more concentrated and your pony should not be allowed to eat all the hay he wants. The amount you feed depends on your pony, his size, the amount of work he is expected to do and the condition he is in. A small pony, doing little or no work will probably do well on just grass or hay. You must judge the amount of feed your pony needs yourself. If he becomes very gay or hard to handle try cutting down on his grain, but if he seems listless and quiet increase his feed. When you change feeds be sure and do it gradually. Start with a little at a time and take several days to make the change. Your pony must have salt where he can reach it at all times. He can not be well and healthy with out it.

HINT FOR THE WEEK — A dog grooming brush, the kind with blunt teeth set in rubber, makes a fine mane and tail brush. Work out any tangles with your fingers and then brush both the under and the top side.

Anyone having a question concerning ponies, may write to Pony Tales, c/o Avalanche and your questions will be answered in the column.

Bits O' Talk

Mr. and Mrs. Halford Kittleman of Chicago planned to visit their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Carr and children Mary, Sally and Susan, who are vacationing at Walloon Lake the last two weeks in July, expecting to join them this weekend. They will also visit Mrs. Kittleman's sister-in-law, Mrs. Herbert Wolff and family, soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hoesli returned home Wednesday, July 15th, from a trip to Geraldton, Ontario, where they visited Mrs. Hoesli's cousin and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Oden at their summer cabin on Wild Goose Lake. On Wednesday the Hoeslis were pleasantly surprised by their friends, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Metzger of Detroit, who came to spend a little time while on their vacation.

Dr. and Mrs. Robert Bernard of Richmond stopped for the weekend with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. R. A. VanVleet, on their way home from a month-long trip through the west, to Grand Canyon, Yellowstone, and all the points of interest.

An error appeared in the picture caption under Sister Ann Jeffrey and her sister, Sister John Michael, last week. Sister Ann Jeffrey took her vows as a nun May 31, 1933, not in '64 as the type gremlins insisted. Our apologies.

Copies of the "Old AuSable" are at the Avalanche.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd E. Myers Jr. and family of Inkster spent the weekend with his mother, Mrs. Pete Myers. Mr. and Mrs. Roy Fewley and daughter of Somerset Center visited her Sunday evening. Judge Beulah Moore attended the 68th annual convention of Michigan Probate and Juvenile Court Judges Association at Harbor Springs Monday through Wednesday.

To the Tom Galloways of Flint, thank you for the kind words.

Mr. Larry Lee Duval and friend Dick Jorgensen spent a four-day leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Reece Cox. A party was given for them at Wildwood Acres Friday night, where his parents are spending the summer. The boys left Saturday afternoon for Camp Carson, Colo., where they are stationed.

Mrs. Robert Strong II, Stephanie and Bethany of Mt. Clemens, arrived Wednesday evening to spend a few days with her parents, the Walter Mikesells. Mr. Strong will join them Friday evening.

Ed Gierke and Warren Stephan are having constructed an office building in the form of a model cottage at the location of the former Go-Kart track.

new fish program," MacMillan emphasized.

The Paris hatchery, near Big Rapids in Mecosta county, will go out of trout production as soon as this fall's planting commitments are met. Also to be phased out this fall is the Watersmeet hatchery. The small Benton Harbor sub-station of the Wolf Lake Hatchery will shut down this fall and the lone full-time employee transferred back to Wolf Lake, 35 miles away.

Last of the four to go out of production will be the Grayling hatchery, which will be fully converted to a field office. At least one new employee will be assigned there in addition to the present staff.

The Grayling hatchery last year produced more than 400,000 fish, but the facility has been troubled with problems of fluctuating water temperatures that impaired efficiency.

county's medical society, hospitals, health department and Red Cross chapter before activation.

Blood and blood derivatives save lives and relieve suffering. Enough blood must be available at all times. Red Cross community volunteers and staff conduct blood collections on a planned basis throughout the Region to assure enough blood.

This community project is jointly financed by the Red Cross chapters and the hospitals in the region. No payment is ever made for blood or blood derivatives. The costs involved cover the supplies, equipment and personnel to collect, process and distribute the blood. There is a necessary fee for administering the blood.

All residents of the Lansing Region to which Crawford County now belongs are covered for blood needs anywhere in the U. S. or Canada.

Young Republican Club.

The governor also took advantage of the occasion to knock Michigan's Democrats for what he called "vicious gerrymandering" of state legislative districts.

Romney also took advantage of the opportunity to boost his own legislative record. He said the State Legislature passed its biggest increase for state education in many years and also supported programs to help solve youth and mental health problems.

Romney said that 93,000 more people were employed in Michigan this year than in 1963.

Two candidates for the Republican nomination for State Senate, James O. Neil, Livonia, and Edward A. Meany Jr., of Grand Haven, also were in the area campaigning. Both men have been stumping out-state areas for support.
